There is no suggestion as to the probability of Travis being able to get together ten or a dozen representative American amateurs to make such a trip, nor is there any hint as to the attitude the golfers would be likely to assume on receiving such an invitation.

I have been seriously considering the matter of inviting a number of our leading amateurs to go abroad next year as my guests in quest of the British amateur championship—say ten or a dozen. Very the british open.

I should like to know if this would in any way invalidate, or be considered as tending to invalidate, the amateur status of any members of the party even if it should happen that for any unforseen reason at the eleventh hour I might be debarred from going myself.

It has long been my ambition to witness a duplication of what happened as Sandwich in 1964, and I firmly believe the time is now ripe for it to the further glorification of American golf and the good of the game generally.

Replying to your favor of the 15th regarding the matter mentioned in your favor of September 39, I would say that action was to have been taken at the meeting of the executive committee to be held at Wilmington during the women's championship, but as no meeting was held at that time action has been deferred until the next meeting of the committee, which will be held January 9, 1314. I confess that I am not at all clear as to just what this means. My original inquiry was whether the plan would in any way invalidate the amateur status of those invited. May I be permitted to point out that my inquiry remains unanswered? Had your response to this plain, straightforward question been favorable it would have been "up to me" to determine the practicality of the plan. "The weakness of the Frawley law lies in that it makes the mere possession of cocaine or heroin a misdemeanor unless it is obtained on a certificate, but it does not provide for the certificate. Therefore, any one obtaining the drugs with a physician's prescription is liable to arrest for a misdemeanor."

Trenton, April 2—The following New Jersey charters were filed to-day: A. C. Vanderelst Company, Newark; Jew-elry; $8,000; L. F. Friedmann, Julia Wood-head and W. J. Woodhead, Montelair, Falcon Manufacturing Company, Camden; machinery and speciatries; $30,000; S. C. Rock-man, George S. Martin and Bertrand Archer, Camden, Attorney Merrill laughed at the demands and said: "Go as far as you like; I'm tired of you paper-collared soldiers." Eventually the three officers drove away.
